Province Expects to Harvest Normal Honey Crop

Anticipate Yield to Equal 2,500,000 Pounds Produced Alberta During Last Year

The 1943 honey crop in Alberta will be "about normal," W. G. LeMaistre, provincial apiarist, said Tuesday. Provided the honey is fairly distributed, there will be enough to allow every family in Alberta to have some, he added. In 1942, 2,500,000 pounds of honey were produced in the province.

Cool weather in the northern part of the province has limited the really good honey days there, and drought in the south has reduced nectar secreted by flowers in those areas, so the hoped-for record crop will not be harvested, Mr. LeMaistre explained. These adverse weather conditions have been counteracted by abundant bloom which could have produced a record amount of honey.

A large increase in the number of beekeepers in Alberta was noted this year by provincial authorities, who state most of the newcomers have two or three hives only, to supply their own households. The price of honey has risen, but has not encouraged commercial honey producers to expand operations. Because of the difficulty of obtaining peak and increased crops of honey, and the fact that the crop of honey is not expected to be much larger than in 1942, despite the increased number of hives in the province.

BIG DEMAND
A tremendous demand for honey has been expressed at the present time by beekeepers, Mr. LeMaistre says. The province produced 2,500,000 pounds of honey.

Sneak Thief Takes Parcel For Soldier

Some boy overseas is going to be without a gift package containing clothes, chocolate, and razor blades, just because some sneak thief forced a way into a basement room, where the goods were being kept, city police were informed Monday.

R. H. Parham, 1544 90 street, in complaining of the theft, said authorities his daughter had been given a quantity of things to send her boyfriend overseas. The package had been added to the collection little by little, and for a week or so had not had any occasion to visit the room where the treasure was stored. On Monday, when she went to get the package, she found the entire supply had disappeared.

Two Youths Loot Seed Store Safe

Entering, apparently, through a hole in the south wall of the Capital Seed and Poultry Supply, 2610 10th street, where the store had two youths looted the office safe, which had been left unlocked, and got away with between $15 and $20 in quarters, dimes and nickels, city police learned Monday.

The suspects, one of whom was a 16-year-old boy, were interviewed by authorities, who later learned they had been participating in the theft. The second boy was not at home at the time of the raid. The discovery was made Monday morning by Miss Margaret Peck, bookkeeper, whose home is at 11202 6th street, and who notified the authorities.

Claims 7 Youths Damage Golf Club

Seven youths were named by W. E. Brown, secretary-treasurer of the Highlands Golf Club, as being responsible for a series of thefts and willful damage to property at the golf course on Saturday. Among the articles reportedly stolen were a pen and pencil set, the property of Mr. Brown, together with numerous golf clubs for the convenience of guests of the club.

Tree boxes had been broken, water pipes pulled up, and green were damaged, stated Mr. Brown, who said the youths responsible had kept off attention to the warden, and the special constable who had paid off the property.

Australians Feel Danger Invasion Past

Australians are "fairly unanxious" over prospects of a Japanese invasion of their continent, although some have been lulled by the possibility of a full-scale invasion is now past, and are expecting only small attacks and invasions, C. P. Smith, managing director of two western Australian newspapers, said in Edmonton today.

He is homebound today on a trip which will have taken him 9000 miles when he arrives back in Perth, capital of Western Australia. He went to England at the invitation of the British government, flying the most of the way. Australian morale was raised tremendously when Gen. Douglas MacArthur took command of operations in the southwestern Pacific, says Mr. Smith. "We think a lot of him," he said.

Discussing Japanese activity at sea, he said that the Japanese submarines and aircraft were even in the "fairly confident" even important centres, such as Sydney, have been attacked by submarine and ship forces.

NO GREAT CHANGES
Head of West Australian News, Harry G. Turner, managing director of the Perth-based newspaper, said that the Australian people were expecting no great changes amongst the military forces. He said that the general election, which is to be held August 14, will be a test of the government's popularity.

WOULD REPUTATE
Mr. Lang was premier of the government which advocated repudiation of interest due to British bondholders, and whose government was liquidated by the government of New South Wales, on the repudiation question. He has been in the public eye much since that time but is regarded as the stormy petrel of the Australian political scene.

Antony Fisher, a member of the House of Representatives, was also in the city. He is a member of the government which advocated repudiation of interest due to British bondholders, and whose government was liquidated by the government of New South Wales, on the repudiation question.

BETTER PRICE
Further, the "co-op" is establishing a trade centre, which is needed when super-inflation is no longer in effect, and there is no longer a shortage of goods. The co-op is expected to be a success, as it has been adding to the collection little by little, and for a week or so had not had any occasion to visit the room where the treasure was stored.

CHAPTER XII

Knowing the truth didn't change essential values. Barbie knew she couldn't go to Ken and say, "I'm not because you're a civilian that I'm ashamed to present you in my family. It's because you're illiterate, because you haven't had no advantages, because you don't belong to the same world." No, there was nothing to be done about the hurt she had dealt Ken. Barbie decided after a sleepless night. They'd had a couple of days together, they'd both gone overboard about the other without stopping to think first—at least she supposed Ken had, too, or else why would he snubbing have hit him so hard? But there was nothing to be done about it. Nothing.

It was a stifling day, heavy with an oppressive heat. One of those hot summer days that breed even temper, poor concentration and accidents. Barbie heard the alarm of a rapidly approaching ambulance as she turned in at the guard house gate. She walked on one side and let it pass. By the time she had parked her car and returned to the guard house, the ambulance had picked up its burden and departed.

"Who's hurt?" Barbie asked anxiously.

"Ken Carter," someone answered. "A drum of carbon dropped on him in the forest room."

Barbie stood for a moment with the world blinking out around her.

The guard told her that he'd been taken to Riverview Hospital. It wasn't very far in distance, but seemed like an eternity in time because she was parking the car before the hospital, then and flying up the stairs to the board door marked ENTRANCE.

It was an hour and a half before

A fellow can't work it to 12 hours a day and study engineering at the same time. So the engineering will have to wait until the war's over. Does that make it okay now? There was nothing wrong with his arms. He drew her close to him.

"Oh, Ken," Barbie said half crying.

She held him off for a moment. "Ken, I'm glad I told you that I loved you before I knew this. Remember, you said once you were to be loved for yourself."

He drew her face towards him. "You've got something there, Baby."

Then he kissed her very, very affectionately.

THE END

McCoys Health Service

I am putting food minerals and vitamins together in this discussion because they are both essential to health and because they occur in foods in comparatively small amounts.

The organic minerals were greatly neglected for a long time in the study of nutrition, but eventually they came to be recognized as being of great value, and in fact these minerals are as necessary to the body as the foundation is to a house. While there are many minerals found in the body in very small amounts, there are only a few which are found in any appreciable amounts, among them being calcium, phosphorus, sodium, potassium, etc.

These minerals are present in the greatest extent in natural foods, and refining of a food may therefore partially destroy it of its mineral content. It is through food alone that the elements required to the vital forces in building, maintaining and repairing of the body, are furnished. But food can not impart any more than it contains, and such a large proportion of the available minerals found in the modern table are so devastated and improperly prepared that the important organic minerals are either destroyed altogether, or are partially destroyed or entirely absent.

Some of these elements such as calcium and phosphorus, are indispensable for building the bony structure of the body, and other elements are needed for healthy nervous tissue, for the growing of hair, and for the formation of red blood cells. These elements are the most important as far as the red blood cell is concerned, are iron and copper. Gradually, we have learned a great deal about these minerals, and they do in the body, and what foods contain them. One of these findings is that while vegetables are rich in these minerals, the cooking of such vegetables in a great deal of water, which is later discarded, will tend to cause some of the mineral content to be thrown away. This discovery led to the remark credited to a doctor to the effect that, "if the kitchen sink could develop stomachs, they would be the best fed animals in America."

Fortunately, there is now learning to cook their vegetables in as small an amount of water as possible. This practice will conserve the minerals. The person using some of these carefully cooked vegetables every day, using a large salad, the raw vegetables, and using the real whole wheat bread, will probably secure all the minerals necessary.

In using these minerals, it is results which count, and in their use the result desired should be an increase in health. We do not need to be "faddists" on the subject, but we should be interested to the extent of making sure we get enough minerals for certain purposes. Thus, we need enough calcium to keep the nerves from being too irritable and to keep the teeth and bones strong and firm. We also need enough iron to produce a good growth of hair and healthy fingernails, and we need enough iron to maintain the material of new red blood cells. Results such as these are what count, and should be the goal to keep in mind whenever we start regulating the minerals used.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 130 words. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

IT IS NOT TRUE THAT BRUNETTES ARE MORE
FAITHFUL
THAN BLONDES

There is an old belief that blondes are fickle, and that brunettes are serious and faithful. The truth is that there is no difference whatever in psychology, have found that there are just as many fickle brunettes and faithful blondes, as vice versa. Science is a lot more than just a bunch of facts, and that brunettes are more affectionate or more clinging types than are blondes. Consequently, the old belief that blondes are more faithful and serious to have to be discarded as an untempered or personality trait as a general rule. Both make good wives and good mothers, either can be fickle or dependable.

Kilburn, London, England, has a well-documented file on the matter. It shows blondes doing in World War I.

Allies Capture 350 Prisoners As Isle Seized

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Allies have captured the island of Vella Lavella, which lies in the southwest sector of the New Georgia group. Allied headquarters announced today.

Disruption of the island bypassed Kolombangara island across the Kula Gulf from New Georgia.

CAPTURE 350 JAPS

Three hundred and fifty Japanese were captured on the island, 45 miles west of New Georgia. The occupation occurred while fighting still was in progress on the Kula Gulf coast where New Georgia against Japanese forces still holding out there.

"Our ground troops have seized the island of Vella Lavella," the communiqué said, "surprising and capturing over approximately 300 enemy refugees."

"This places our forces north of enemy positions at Vila on Kolombangara island and renders its continued supply line impossible."

The capture of 350 Japanese was a feat in itself, according to the communiqué, because the island was a supply base for the Japanese.

For the second time in less than a week, American high bombers flew a round trip of 2,500 miles to bomb the island.

On the southeast coast of New Georgia, a tanker was set afire and six intercepting Zeros were shot down.

Twelve other Japanese planes were bagged over the northeastern New Guinea base of Lae.

ADVANCE ON BASE

Fifteen miles south of Lae at the ground front scene, American and Australian jungle troops moving slowly but relentlessly upon the enemy air base of Hagan, New Guinea, killed more than 200 Japanese, to day's communiqué reported.

Vella Lavella island's seizure not only bypasses Japan's air base of Vila on Kolombangara, but also places a new threat at the Bougainville sector in which four of the Japanese air bases remain in enemy hands in the Solomons. Among these is the biggest one, Kahili.

Pas By Election Being Held Today

THE PAS MAN, Aug. 17.—(CP)—Elections in the provincial constituency of the Pas de la Pêche are being held today.

There are four candidates, three supporting the coalition government of Premier Louis St. Laurent, and the fourth representing the C.C.F.

The candidates are: Orton P. Wright, Liberal coalition; Rodrick M. McLean, government; George B. Mainwaring, Independent coalition; and Barry Richards, C.C.F.

The northern constituency, long represented in the legislature by Mr. Bracken, has an electoral list of 8,000.

The transferable voting system will be used, the election being first and second choice in the member constituency. A candidate must have more than 50 per cent of the total vote to be elected on the first count. If not, a runoff election on the second count is held, and a second count is held.

Gallant Canuck Killed by Sniper

BY LOUIS W. HUNTER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, North Africa, Aug. 17.—(CP)—Corporal Fred Terry of Vancouver died yesterday of a sniper's bullet before he fell.

He was a conscientious objector, a single-handed enemy machine-gunner, who, with his machine-gun crew, made it possible for his company to advance and take a hill.

Terry was buried in the field July 30 after a service conducted by the regimental padre.

Three of his closest friends, Sgt. Bob Peabody and Pte. Al Benson and John Hays, secured the dry conditions to find flowers for the grave.

Terry's company commander, Maj. H. P. Bell-Braving, said the corporal's leadership and continued gallantry were the epitome of a bill. When the top of the hill was reached, Terry began firing in the task of organization. As he advanced around an exposed flank, he was hit by a sniper's bullet.

Edmonton Flier Among Injured In Fatal Crash

QUEBEC, Aug. 17.—(CP)—Three men were killed and two injured when a Royal Canadian Air Force training plane crashed near Annapolis, Quebec, yesterday.

The plane, flying since August 11, was spotted from the air Sunday. Cause of the accident is under investigation.

The dead are Sgt. A. Benson, Pte. H. Newson, and LAC J. T. A. Scherbert, navigator, Ottawa; and Sgt. E. H. Wright, wireless operator, Coal Harbour, B.C.

The two other members of the five-man crew are en route to hospital here but nature of their injuries is not known. They are Sgt. L. Hollinger, wireless operator, Edmonton, and LAC J. A. Riley, navigator, Ottawa.

First post of the Grand Army of the Republic was established at Edmonton, B.C., in 1866.

Lines of Men March in Sicily

Long lines of men march in Sicily these days—the victors headed north and east into the final battles, the vanquished headed southward away from war. Remnants of the dregs of Tunisia is the hilly scene, above, where an American infantry column of trucks and troops moves along a road toward Palermo. Faces of the Italians who caught could not display dismay at their captive state. Expressions indicate they are glad the war is over for them and look with anticipation to internment in some Allied country.

Unarmed British Major Bluffed 400 Italians To Capture Taormina

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin. Copyright, 1943, by British United Press.

TAORMINA, Sicily, Aug. 15.—(Delayed)—An unarmed British major bluffed 400 Italian soldiers into leaving the town and captured this resort town only 12 miles from the Italian mainland yesterday.

When British patrols entered four hours later they found Maj. Geoffrey Keating, chief of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's photographers, drinking champagne in the former Luftwaffe hotel. And the shattered defenders, unguarded in prison cages, "killed them with their own hands."

"I told them to hand over their revolvers and guns, but they were reluctantly disagreeable at first," he said. "They apparently thought that first that I was a German."

"Then one of them said, 'Oh, you are English,' and they all dropped their guns in front of me."

"I went on into the town and to the hotel which was the Luftwaffe headquarters, and told the proprietor to bring me the colonel commanding the Italian soldiers. He brought the colonel and acted as interpreter."

"I told the colonel to have all his men turn their guns and ammunition into the police station and to let the men to the prisoners' cages down the road. He did it. It was fantastic. It was just as simple as that. I told him the place was surrounded."

"I said we were on the heights above and around behind it, and to the north along the coastal road. Actually the patrols were many miles away."

British Subs Sink Nine Axis Ships Off Italy

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(CP)—The Admiralty announced tonight that British submarines operating in the western Mediterranean have sunk nine Axis vessels, including a large transport.

When British patrols entered four hours later they found Maj. Geoffrey Keating, chief of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's photographers, drinking champagne in the former Luftwaffe hotel. And the shattered defenders, unguarded in prison cages, "killed them with their own hands."

Major Decisions Believed Made At Hyde Park

By C. R. BLACKBURN

QUEBEC, Aug. 17.—(CP)—Last week's informal talks at Hyde Park, N.Y., between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt may have resulted in major decisions over the sixth formal war conference before here, it was indicated last night in reports from Britain.

London morning newspapers said the war cabinet was in constant session, and that it was in touch by telephone with Mr. Churchill here, and that there was an impression important developments were pending.

DISCUSSIONS SECRET

The Hyde Park discussions have been kept secret but presumably the two war leaders considered many phases of the global war. A report that the informal meeting probably was transmitted at once to London for the war cabinet's information.

This report may have been behind the war cabinet yesterday, perhaps its contents necessitated a decision by ministers in London before the president and Mr. Churchill meet again here this week.

Possibility that a new, unprecedented combined offensive against Axis occupied Europe, either in the west or the east, would be approved and ordered at the forthcoming Churchill-Roosevelt conference was subject of much speculation here yesterday.

But there was no possibility of confirming such a rumor since, informants said, such a decision would be reached only after a closely guarded secret until it had been put into operation.

Rumors of a new role to be assigned to the Canadian army over, was also floated about.

NEW ASSAULT HINTED

In some quarters it was reported recently that the Canadian military had been relieved from further duties in Sicily and would replace the rest of the army which would go into a new assault as a complete unit.

Canadian and British chiefs of staff have been in conference here since last Wednesday, and the United States chiefs of staff began conference with the British officers last Saturday.

Party Proceeding To Wrecked Plane

CHILLIWACK, B.C., Aug. 17.—(CP)—A plane wrecked in a ground party making the second attempt to reach the site of the wreckage of the "C-47" plane reported last night by wireless that it had reached Ford Creek, better than half way in the trek from Chilliwack to the summit of William King.

Four submarines participated in the action.

A minelaying drive across the Gulf of Genoa and destroyed by torpedo.

Two large German transport ships had been sunk by British submarines, sunk by British submarines.

An Italian naval trawler and a minesweeper, sunk by gunfire also in the Ligurian Sea.

In addition, a medium-sized supply ship intercepted while outward bound from Durazzo, Albania, was damaged.

Four submarines participated in the action.

So far the party has travelled on horses. Today the men are continuing their trek, it is too rugged terrain for horses.

Overhanging rocks prevented the party from reaching the summit of the plane which crashed near the top of the mountain eight months last week, killing 13 persons.

The second party had adequate mountain-climbing equipment.

Polio Epidemic Feared in U.S.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Editor of the Chicago Tribune said today that the polio epidemic in the United States is "reaching epidemic proportions" in some parts of the United States.

"Indications are that this will be the worst year for this disease since 1942, when 57,700 cases were reported," he said.

"Through August, nearly 20,000 cases have been reported," he said.

"The epidemic is spreading rapidly and it is feared that it will be the worst year for this disease since 1942, when 57,700 cases were reported," he said.
